

TELLS COUNCIL L CRASH TRAIN BRAKES 'O. K.'

Elevated Official Says
Train Could Have Stopped

Motorman is Still Being Held on Technical Charge

Chicago, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Bernard J. Fallon, operating head of the Chicago Rapid Transit Company, told a city council investigating committee today that the motorman of a North Shore and Milwaukee Flyer which crashed into an elevated train, killing 10 passengers and injuring 33 others, "should have been able to stop his train within 600 feet."

"After the accident Tuesday night," Fallon said at a public hearing in the city hall, "the North Shore train was backed to the Wilson avenue yards. Several stops were made enroute and the brakes seemed to work all right."

The next day engineers of the Illinois and Interstate Commerce Commissions inspected the brakes and found them in working order. The motorman should have been able to stop his train within 600 feet."

Fallon said evidence had been found on the rail that the North Shore train had skidded 240 feet just before the crash occurred.

"But this skidding," he said, "was not the primary cause of the crash" as claimed by Van R. Grooms, the injured motorman of the North Shore Flyer.

"If, as Grooms said, he first saw the elevated train while 4,000 feet away, he should have had no trouble in stopping his train," Fallon said.

Before hearing Fallon, the committee considered a report from Police Captain Martin McCormick who was present when the motorman was questioned at St. Francis hospital by Assistant State's Attorney Leslie V. Curtis.

Capt. McCormick said Grooms told him he applied the brakes of his train three times and that each time they locked and caused the train to skid. The first time, the captain quoted Grooms, he was about 4,000 feet behind the crowded elevated train, which had halted at a switch.

Assistant State's Attorney Curtis said Grooms would be held on a technical charge if he is released from the hospital before the coroner's inquest is resumed on Dec. 15. A police guard was stationed at his hospital room.

NEW JAPANESE NAVY ADDITION WILL BE BUILT

New Budget Calls For An Expenditure Of
$200,000,000

Minister Says Peace Must Be Kept in The Far East

Tokyo, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Japan will hasten to enlarge her navy as soon as parliament approves new budget estimates, Admiral Osami Nagano, Japanese minister of marine, said today.

Japan he described as a "poor power" which cannot afford as large a navy as other powers, but must be able to defend itself and maintain peace in the Far East.

The 1937-38 naval budget, approved by the cabinet yesterday, calls for an expenditure of approximately $200,000,000.

"An independent Japanese navy," Admiral Nagano said, "means a navy of the minimum strength necessary to defend the country but not a luxurious navy to threaten other power."

(The Japanese announcement paralleled a statement from Moscow that the Russian naval armaments have been increased 1700 percent since 1923. Relations between the two nations were strained by reported Far Eastern border clashes and by the new German-Japanese accord against Communism.)

The German-Japanese accord against Communism struck its first snag today with the Japanese Labor party's announcement of opposition because of "present delicate international relations."

Sufficient steps already have been taken by Japan to combat Communism, the Labor party declared in an affirmation of its own continuous opposition to the Russian type of government.

Officials described an agreement with Italy for mutual recognition of the nation's territorial expansion—Japan by its supervision of the Manchukuoan state and Italy by conquest of Ethiopia—as principally a trade and cultural agreement.

(Official sources in Rome announced completion of the accord.)

Spanish Government Attacks Fascists In Northern Offensive

Gijon, Spain, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The government announced today in an official communique that a strong offensive, in which dynamiting of Asturian miners played a major role, had been launched on the northern city of Oviedo in Asturias province.

The general attack on the insurgent stronghold, the government said, met with immediate success and resulted in the capture of three towns in the outlying Oviedo district, with heavy losses to the Fascist defenders.

(French reports said that the Asturian miners had dynamited the important bridgehead at Valdupo breaking communications between Oviedo and Col. Arranda's headquarters at Grado to the west.)

The official war bulletin claimed that the insurgent attack on Madrid was being demoralized.

Saint Jean De Luz, France, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Spanish Socialist government troops renewed their campaign on the northern front today with attacks against Fascist Grado, Vitoria and Tolosa.

Reports that Fascist warplanes had bombed Santander, bay of Biscay City, and caused heavy damage there were broadcast by the insurgent radio station at Seville.

Madrid, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Artillery shells dropped near the British embassy today and sent citizens scurrying for cover as clearing skies brought a renewal of the Fascist-Socialist battle for possession of Madrid.

The shells were from Fascist batteries, the government said, and the Socialist troops turned their big guns against the Casa De Campo region across the Manzanares river from the capital.

The shells falling near the British embassy dropped into Fernando El Santo street which the militia and pedestrians had considered comparatively safe.

Shrapnel sprayed the street to a point within a few yards of the embassy gates.

Meanwhile, the Fascists launched a new offensive from Valverde, a short distance south of Madrid along the Aravaca road.

Their attack was supported by mortar crews and machine gunners but was unsuccessful, the government said.

The Madrid militia in a counter-attack drove back the Fascists "sending the insurgent casualty roll soaring," it was reported here.

The Madrid troops earlier today "routed" an insurgent army at Pozuelo De Alarcon and foiled an attempt to cut communications with Escorial, the government announced.

Foreign volunteers comprising the International Brigade pushed back Fascists several miles and captured two trench mortars south of Madrid.

A fresh column of cadets arrived to bolster the Socialist army but rain put a stop to vigorous offensive by either side during the day.

That the condition of the capital, with reduced food supply and in daily fear of aerial bombardment, was critical was evidenced by visiting members of the British parliament in appeal for "large scale action" by neutral powers to lessen horrors of the siege.

The Fascist bombardment began at 10 p. m. last night and lasted an hour.

Labor Promises To Fight For Revision Of Social Security

Action Is Most Outstanding
Of 1936 A. F. of L.
Convention

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 28.—(AP)—The promise of a labor fight for drastic revisions in the social security program appeared tonight to have been the American Federation of Labor convention's outstanding positive action.

Despite the attention John L. Lewis' revolt received, its status was practically the same when the convention ended as when the delegates assembled two weeks ago.

Lewis' few friends on the grounds assailed the federation's craft leaders for putting the United Mine Workers and nine other unions out of the A. F. of L. The convention voted to keep them out, while peace makers tried once again to reach an agreement satisfactory to both Lewis' industrial union rebels and the craft unions.

More money for more workers was the keynote of social security amendments the convention decided to send to congress this winter.

The first would give farm hands and employees of small stores and factories insurance against both unemployment and a needy old age. The present act leaves out both.

The second amendment would increase from $15 to $25 the amount the federal government would pay to the states for each old age pension, thus increasing pensions from $30 to $50 a month. The present act provides the federal government will pay up to $15 to each pension, with the state to match the federal contribution.

The third would have the federal government share the cost of old age insurance. This cost, under the act as it stands, is shared by employers and employees alone.

The fourth amendment would earmark the huge old age insurance reserve fund for insurance payments alone. Under the present act, the "premium" collections go into the treasury's general fund.

Chicago Woman Confesses Hoax

Chicago, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Genevieve Richards, 27-year-old invalid mother of two children admitted today, Police Capt. Patrick O'Connell said, a story she told last night of being attacked and slashed in her home was a hoax.

The woman, Mrs. Genevieve Richards, said she remembered nothing at 5:30 p. m. yesterday, O'Connell said, when she claimed she called a physician and he gave her a sedative.

"The next thing I knew the police were questioning me," O'Connell quoted her as saying.

O'Connell said police had been summoned to Mrs. Richards' home seven times in recent months. He said she suffered from heart attacks and dizzy spells. She is the wife of a dining car steward.

At first police believed, O'Connell said, the man Mrs. Richards reported attacked her was the same one who last Saturday ravished and brutally mutilated Miss Anna Brasy, 38.

Winter Comes To Boaz—And Also 525 Pound Cagle

Boaz, Ala., Nov. 28.—(AP)—When Walter Cagle brings his 525 pounds down from the windward slopes of San Mountain Wednesday winter will come to Boaz.

Walter, Man Mountain Harbinger of winter, sent word today he'll be in town to lay in his supply of winter woollens—an annual excursion long accepted hereabouts as the official arrival of cold weather.

Among Walter's purchases will be a specially built pair of size 74 overalls, 24 yards of heavy flannel for underwear and a pair of size 18 shoes.

And when Walter comes to town each year he's king for a day. He receives a key from the mayor and merchants pile his little truck with gifts.

Mrs. Cagle reported that Walter was 40 pounds lighter than last year and that "He hasn't been the same since he heard of a man up in Tennessee who weighs 780."

CONVICT FIVE OF BLACK LEGION IN 'THRILL KILLING'

Charged With First Degree Murder In Detroit

Mandatory Penalty in Michigan Life Imprisonment

Detroit, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Five alleged members of the Black Legion charged with the "thrill killing" of a Negro World War veteran were convicted of first degree murder tonight by a jury in recorder's court. The mandatory penalty is life imprisonment.

The seven women and five men jurors reported their verdict at 11:00 o'clock (EST) slightly less than seven hours after they started their deliberations.

Recorder's Judge Donald Van Zile, who instructed the jury it could either find the defendants guilty of murder in first degree or acquit them, said he would pronounce the sentences Friday.

Those convicted were Harvey Davis, Black Legion "Colonel"; John Bannerman and Ervina E. Lee, already under life sentences for another Black Legion murder; and James R. Lorraine and Charles Rouse.

The trial was the second Black Legion murder case to come into the courts. Eleven men were convicted, and eight sentenced to life imprisonment, for the "execution" of Charles A. Poole, a WPA worker last May.

The five convicted tonight were charged with shooting to death Silas Coleman, 42-year-old Negro, at a lake near Pinckney, Mich. last July 25.

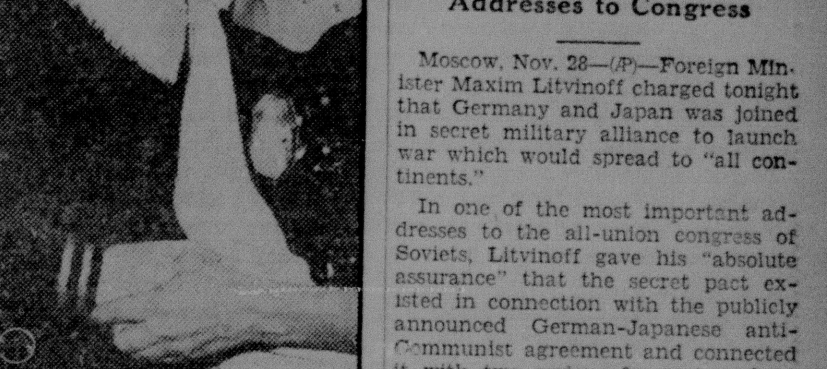

Dayton Dean, two-run trigger-man of the night-riding terrorists who were exposed by the Poole killing, told police Coleman was shot "for the Hell it" by Black Legion members who "wanted to see what it felt like to kill a Negro."

Dean, the state's principal witness at both murder trials, testified Davis ordered Coleman lured to the lake where he was entertaining a week-end party because he said his guests needed "some target practice."

Friendship Dies: Aide Sues Aimee

Litvinoff Declares Secret Pact Is In Existence

Makes One of Most Important Addresses to Congress

Moscow, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Maxim Litvinoff charged tonight that Germany and Japan was joined in secret military alliance to launch war which would spread to "all continents."

In one of the most important addresses to the all-union congress of Soviets, Litvinoff gave his "absolute assurance" that the secret pact existed in connection with the publicly announced German-Japanese anti-Communist agreement and connected it with two serious far-eastern border clashes this week. He said:

"Within 48 hours after the pact was signed two considerable violations of the Soviet border occurred. But the invaders did not realize who was guarding our far eastern frontiers."

He referred to reports of two clashes between Russian and Japanese Manchukuoan border patrols, protested respectively by the Soviet nation and by Japan.

The congress applauded Spanish Ambassador Marcelino Pascua, who had assailed Fascism for its policy of "contempt for peace."

That Russia was amply prepared in the event of war was indicated with the announcement her naval forces had increased 1700 per cent since 1933.

Submarines led the armament race, Admiral Ivan Orloff, chief of naval forces, told the all-union congress of Soviets.

He listed the following increases since Jan. 1, 1933:

Submarines 75 percent. Warships 300 percent. Coast artillery 75 percent. Anti-aircraft guns 100 percent. Marine aviation 510 percent.

The submarine figures indicated the greatest increase in that category since the first of the year—virtually double the 1935 strength, Admiral Orloff said.

Orloff urged construction of the largest fleet in the world for Russia because there is "a real naval race abroad."

Reports of heavy losses in pitched battle between Russian and Japanese border patrols along the Manchukuoan border heightened the tension here.

PREDICT BATTLE IN CONGRESS ON SOCIAL TAX ACT

Survey Shows Half Of States Have Not Qualified

Washington, Nov. 28.—(AP)—A battle in congress over the unemployment taxes was foreshadowed today by a survey showing about half the states have no plans to qualify for the 1936 benefits before the December 31 deadline.

Officials in several states were counting on an extension of the time for qualifying, despite administration opposition. But in others, there was renewed talk of convening the legislatures in special sessions to enact unemployment insurance so the states could get their share of the taxes that must be paid anyway.

Preparations were under way at the state security board to make public estimates of the amounts states will lose unless they join in with the federal law. This was designed as an added inducement for early action.

A credit of up to 90 percent against the federal tax is allowed employers for whatever they pay in state unemployment taxes.

R. Gordon Wagenet, director of the unemployment bureau at the security board, expressed satisfaction at the turn of events since the supreme court on Monday upheld the New York state law.

Hardly had the highest court spoken, on a four to four division, then inquiries from the states about their position rained upon the security board. The legislatures of Pennsylvania and Maryland were called into session for December 1 and 5, respectively, to conform to the federal program. Arizona joined up on Wednesday, with a statute effective in 90 days unless vetoed by Governor Morcu. That same day the California supreme court upheld the law of that state.

Colorado yesterday became the sixteenth state to have its law approved by the security board. The legislatures of Connecticut and Oklahoma have the problem up. Action in Oklahoma is expected next week.

Planning no special session now, Governor Chandler of Kentucky expressed the belief that congress would amend the law and save it to ask newsmen what sort of work they would like to do.

Bernard Benagen, 47, alias "Lord Desmond," who arrived there today to begin a 2 1/2 to 3 year term for grand larceny, replied he was an excellent traveling salesman.

He was assigned to the shoveling squad.

Japs and Mongols Reported Massing For Chinese Fight

Drive to Avenge Defenders
Of North China
Province

Kalgan, China, Nov. 29.—(Sunday)—(AP)—Chinese reports trickling in here from the snow buried fastness to the northwest told said Japanese and Mongol legions were massing for an avenging drive against Suiyuan's victorious defenders.

The focal point of the concentration, according to the insistent reports, was Shanxi, once historic Xanadu, the Mongol capital from which Kubla Khan ruled half the known world.

From the Fous city, the name of which alone is a rallying cry throughout Mongolia, the Chinese charge the attack will be launched to extend Japanese influence over inner Mongolia and revenge the capture of strategic Pailingmiao.

The Japanese have ordered, according to Chinese, 30 fighting planes, numerous tanks, armored trucks and a regiment of heavy artillery to converge on Shanxi.

There, reports insist, they will be merged with Manchukuoan and Mongolian regulars to await the passing of the present terrific cold and heavy snows to attack the Chinese legions dug in eastern Suiyuan province.

The first drive against the Suiyuan defenders last week ended in a decisive defeat at the important towns of Wuchuan and Pailingmiao, where Gen. Fu Tso-Yo's well trained local Chinese troops decimated the irregular battalions in hand-to-hand street fighting.

Whipping Post Is Washington Issue

Seattle, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The whipping post, with lashes for women as well as men, became an issue in Washington state today.

The State Bar Association's legislative committee prepared to poll all attorneys of the state as to their attitude toward legalizing this form of punishment for crime.

The committee recommends the whipping post for men convicted of two felonies, and for men committing any crime of force and violence or with deadly weapons. The lash would be restricted to male offenders over 21 who are physically able to be whipped.

Opposition to the whipping post sprang, somewhat surprisingly, from women believing in "equal rights and equal responsibilities." Miss Reah Whitehead, a Seattle justice of the peace, made the point that "women's skins are no tenderer than men's."

Tulsa, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Thoroughly fumigated and disinfected Tulsa city and county schools will reopen Monday following a month's closing because of an outbreak of infantile paralysis that took seven lives.

Small Boy Talks On As Condition Becomes Weaker

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 28.—(AP)—Four-year-old Emmie Wilson, who "can't stop talking," carried on his childish prattle today, growing weaker from a strange malady which baffled his doctors.

His body wasted away to 20 pounds and his hair turned snow white. Emmie talked on and on just as he has since entering a hospital Nov. 18 with what first was believed to be meningitis.

Physicians said they were not sure of his ailment. They called in a nerve specialist today.

The boy had a slight stroke two weeks ago which affected his face. One eye remains open; one side of his mouth is drawn.

He sleeps four or five hours at night. He is alternately rational and delirious. His fever comes and goes.

His mother, Mrs. May Wilson, is seriously ill at her Munford, Tenn., home.

Always he seems to be afraid to be alone, especially at night.

CENTENNIAL ENDS

PREPARING GALA WELCOME FOR FDR IN BUENOS AIRES

President Will Be Given Tumultuous
Reception

Buenos Aires, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Buenos Aires put on gala dress tonight for a tumultuous welcome to President Franklin D. Roosevelt when he arrives Monday to open the inter-American peace conference.

Feathers were plastered throughout the city at the order of Mayor Marino de Vedia and every one of the city's 2,900,000 residents was asked to display Argentine flags Monday in salute.

The posters praised the United States president not only because he is "writing history in one of the most transcendent moments of modern life, but he comes to Buenos Aires to cement the permanent benefits of peace."

There were plans also for a ceremony unique to the Argentine—tribute to feminine protagonists of peace who intend to present a petition against war bearing 2,000,000 signatures from the Americas.

The petition will be presented Wednesday at city hall following President Roosevelt's departure.

The program for greeting Mr. Roosevelt, simplified considerably at his request, will be:

The president will arrive Monday afternoon aboard the cruiser Indianapolis to be escorted into the harbor by the United States destroyer Phelps and seven Argentine warships.

President Augustin P. Justo and members of the cabinet will welcome Mr. Roosevelt, who then will ride to the United States embassy in Palermo park.

Later the two presidents will exchange official visits. Mr. Roosevelt will receive several hundred members of the United States colony here, and will dine quietly at the embassy.

The president will deliver his address at the opening of the inter-American congress at 6 p. m. Tuesday (3 p. m. CST) after a day of sight-seeing.

He will be a dinner guest of President Justo with other inter-American representatives and Argentine officials and depart Wednesday afternoon for the homeward trip via Montevideo.

Plan Three Major Senate Inquiries

Washington, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Senate investigators announced today they planned to have three major inquiries—involving scores of industrial and financial leaders—under full steam within the next few weeks.

A list of witnesses ranging from professional strike breakers to J. P. Morgan may be summoned, as the committees press their studies of civil liberties violations, campaign expenditures and railway financing.

Two other congressional fact-finders—the House appropriation committee and the joint committee on internal revenue taxation are scheduled to get down to work weeks before Congress convenes January 5.

The joint committee's task is to draft a thorough-going revision of the nation's tax structure to eliminate possible inequities.

The Security Blanks

Several thousand Jacksonville men and women are now in possession of Social Security blanks, to be filled out and returned to the government through the post office. The majority of those who received the blanks do not understand fully the details of the Social Security law, or the workings of the plan. The average person is acquainted with the general idea of the plan, but a number of points of its operation are vague. Workers should not permit this uncertainty of mind to cause them to hesitate in filling out the first forms, and placing them in the hands of proper authorities. The Social Security legislation has been written into the law of the land, so that everyone may be reasonably certain that it will be carried on in some form or other.

Instructions for filling out the preliminary form are simple. Only a few facts are required. Regardless of whether workers understand the system completely, or are in sympathy with the law's provisions, they should follow instructions to the letter. Compliance with the preliminary steps to set up the program will avoid confusion later on.

Every worker who comes under the Social Security scope, whether now employed or unemployed, is entitled to make application for an account number and any person desiring to apply for an account number, who has not received a blank application, may secure one by applying at the local post office.

All employees are required to fill out in full their applications and mail or deliver them to the post office not later than December 5. The executed blanks may be deposited in a mail collection box, handed to a city or rural mail carrier or delivered in person or by messenger to the post office. No postage is required on the return of the blanks. These applications will be forwarded daily to Chicago, from where numbers will be assigned to the applicants.

It appears that nothing would be gained by waiting or delaying in filling out these application forms. On the other hand, delay would court misunderstandings and confusion. The Social Security set-up is a law, though its ramifications are yet somewhat in question. The wise workers will fill out their blanks, turn them in, and await results. That is all they can do.

An Imposing Spectacle

Agriculture's biggest show, the International Livestock Exposition, is in progress at Chicago. The magnificent spectacle of the finest livestock and farm products of the United States and several other countries is housed in its own $2,000,000 amphitheater with a record entry list of 14,000 animals.
Farmers, breeders and ranchers from 44 states, Canada, Australia and other countries are showing blooded cattle, horses, hogs and sheep in competition for $100,000 in cash prizes. Grain farmers from 30 states are exhibiting their cereals in competition with products from other countries.
With a raucous background of squealing, bleating and bellowing, the exposition will run for 8 days in the center of the world's greatest stock yards. Undoubtedly, some Morgan county farmers will be among the hundreds of exhibitors who take home prizes. Greene, Cass and Scott counties, too, may come through with some of the coveted prizes, as all of these localities are represented at the International by prominent exhibitors and purebred stock.

Morgan county is always proud when it learns that its enterprising livestock breeders have captured prizes. There are Nickel & Sons hogs from the Concord community; Adkins cattle from Prentice; the Burris hogs from the Concord and Arenville communities, that always rank among the best wherever shown.

Scott county has the famous Peak show horses and the Andras cattle. Greene county usually is represented by several breeders at the big shows. All of these fine flocks of blooded stock afford proof that Western Central Illinois is an area capable of producing blue ribbon swine and cattle. It may get dry here, and we may have a flood now and then, but when the aristocrats of the barnyard from this block of counties are lined up in the show ring, the owners do not have to apologize to anyone. This section of the state is certain to do well at the International when the ribbons and checks are passed around.

A Reward For Courtesy

It is an interesting story coming from Virginia that Washington and Lee University will receive a bequest of $1,500,000 because at one time in the past an unknown student on the campus was very courteous and friendly to a visitor, whose identity at that time, also was unknown.
The visitor turned out to be a millionaire who was considering giving to some college the desirable sum of $1,500,000. To help decide which one would be the fortunate recipient, the wealthy man decided to pay an unannounced visit to each of several institutions. He was impressed by the courtesy of the undergraduate he met on the Washington and Lee campus, and when he died left the money to that institution.

Courtesy doesn't cost much, but it can pay big dividends. Even if the reward is not material, as in the above case, being thoughtful and considerate is worth while in other ways. Courtesy enriches the life of the man or woman who puts it into use in every day life.

College Cut-Ups

The Daily Illini, student publication at the University of Illinois, recently took students of that worthy institute to task for their behavior at certain public events. "The trouble with college students," the Daily Illini said, "is that they make noise at the wrong time. In Champaign movie houses they find so much to hoot at that much of the screen dialogue is lost in the babble. On the other hand, at football games the stands sit gloomy and unmoved."

"One of the greatest criticisms flung at large universities is that they make students over-sophisticated," says the Illini editor, who grants that young men and women "must have their fun," but deplors conduct at the theater which is "in direct contrast to their usual assumed air of reserve."

From the student daily's comment, it would seem that the boys and girls have been cutting up quite a bit. We do not know the details of the theater episodes, but have observed the conduct of students at Illinois football games. We could hardly agree with the Illini editor as to his statement that the students were "gloomy and unmoved." Perhaps the din wasn't so great when the Illini were getting walloped but a nice gain elicited the natural results—a lot of cheering and applause.

Perhaps if the U. of I. students would be somewhat more decorous in amusement places the student editor could overlook some of the alleged apathy at athletic contests. He seems to want to give the students a lesson in etiquette which they should remember the next time they go to the movies.

Scott Field Improvements

A sub-committee of the committee on Military Affairs of the U. S. House of Representatives made a two hour inspection of Scott field near Belleville, Wednesday of this week and announced a recommendation of $3,000,000 appropriation for the construction of permanent buildings and improvements of the landing field.

Members of the sub-committee are Congressman Lister Hill of Alabama who is chairman of both committees; John Costello of California and Edwin M. Schaefer of Belleville.
The improvements would consist of new barracks constructed of brick in the place of the present wooden structures, a new hospital and more suitable landing field.

Illinoisans who have fought to retain the two large air bases in this state at Scott field and Rantoul, should appreciate any expenditures at these places to add to their permanency. While Scott field has never been in serious danger of transfer to some other part of the country, a movement to abandon the Rantoul flying field gained such impetus a few years ago as to cause much concern. United action by many Illinoisans and organizations prevented transfer of the government's activities from that community.

Expenditures of millions of dollars at these two big Illinois air bases should mean complete permanency. There should never be any question in the future about location—they should be left alone.

S. JACKSONVILLE HAS RED CROSS REPORT

Red Cross roll call reports continue apace. South Jacksonville solicitation has been completed, and the chairman, Mrs. W. G. Goebel, has announced a collection of $305.35. There were 25 Red Cross memberships secured and six donations. Mrs. Goebel was assisted by Mrs. Ernest Stout, Mrs. E. G. Sibley, Mrs. C. J. Kane and Miss Minnie Green.

On Red Cross Sunday a collection of $415 was secured at the Mount Emory Baptist church for the chapter fund. The pastor, Rev. T. A. Johnston, put the matter before the congregation.

Cross-Eye Needs Early Treatment

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBURN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

For a long time any attempt to remedy cross-eyes in children was prevented because people thought cross-eyes were due to fright, shock, prenatal impressions of the mother, or similar superstitious reasons.

A squint or wall-eye may develop from excessive strains placed on the external muscle of the eye by the extra effort in seeing when there is an extreme degree of near-sightedness.

Any straining of the eye or imbalance of the muscles may result in cross-eyes or squint.
Many people believe that children outgrow cross-eyes. This may happen, but, in other instances, the sight of a cross-eye may never develop and frequently the squint or crossed-eye becomes worse as time goes on.

Early diagnosis and treatment of this condition are essential for best results. As soon as it is noticed that a child is cross-eyed, a specialist in diseases of the eye should be consulted. He will make a thorough examination, and decide on the proper treatment.

At least half the cases of cross-eyes seem to be due to some hereditary anatomical weakness, judging from records of other cases somewhere in the families of these victims.

Most people have some minor muscle out of balance in their eyes. One muscle will pull harder than the other, and the strong one will overcome the weak one.

When both eyes are open, the stimulus coming from the brain can supply enough extra effort through the weak muscle to keep the eyes lined up. With both eyes open and seeing, we will see double if one eye turns out of line with the other.

In the case of cross-eyes, the person affected may avoid seeing double by using only one eye at a time.

This happens also in persons who have one eye farsighted and the other nearsighted. If the eyes are not balanced suitably with proper glasses, only one eye will be used at a time for seeing. If this is not corrected, the good eye will be used and the weak one will turn.

Sometimes good results are secured merely by prescribing eye-glasses which will tend to hold the two eyes in position.

Children have been found able to tolerate glasses at the age of fifteen months. The earlier the glasses are used, the more valuable will be their effect.

The surgical procedure for overcoming cross-eyes is most certain. Proper placement of the eye muscles will tend to bring one eye back into proper relationship to the other eye, and will permit binocular vision.

The operation will not improve the vision, but will prevent the vision from being lost through failure to use the eye successfully.

THE WORLD IN A WEEK

A REVIEW

A day of Thanksgiving was the top news this week, with the Spanish Civil War sounding a grim undertone for hundreds of thousands in that beleaguered city who had to be satisfied with near starvation fare. On the west coast, too, and in Alaska and Hawaii many persons sacrificed the usual menu due to the maritime strike.

In the picture of Communism versus Fascism came the official announcement that Japan had cast her lot with Nazi Germany and signed a pact to "mutually inform each other of the actions of the communist international, to consult on measures to combat such actions and to execute them in close cooperation; and, to seek adherence of other nations to this pact."

Previously a pact had been signed recognizing the mutual attractions of the German and Italian regimes. Count Ciano, son in law of Premier Mussolini, was highly publicized in this diplomatic coup.

Japan's interest in European affairs is admittedly a bid for the recognition of the puppet state, Manchoukuo. A return favor might be the Rising Sun's acquiescence to the Ethiopian conquest.

Great Britain has made it plain this week that no anti-communist pact will find favor with that government. The corollary, a Russo-Franco-British pact, is seemingly far in the future.

Roosevelt to Rio—Multitudes of Brazilians, who normally never think of cheering, shouted for more than an hour in the rain Friday as the President of the United States passed through Rio de Janeiro on his way to open the Inter-American peace conference in the Argentine. In a speech before Brazil's congress he pledged the U. S. against any foreign invasion of the Americas.

Supreme Court—With one judge absent, the highest tribunal of the nation registered a tie vote on the constitutionality of the New York Unemployment Insurance act. Justice Hughes announced briefly that the 4-4 count automatically upheld the decision of the lower court, which was in favor of the new law. Observers saw in the decision future approval of the Social Security act.

National News Made These Headlines—William Randolph Hearst appointed John Boettiger, son in law of President Roosevelt, as publisher of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer following settlement of a bitter editorial strike there. Asked for a summary of his policies concerning the news, Boettiger refused, saying, "The paper will speak for itself."

Paul D. Preacher, Arkansas town marshal and cotton planter, was convicted by a federal court jury this week of poisoning under the old anti-slavery act. He was charged with arresting negroes and forcing them to work. The jury recommended clemency.

O. P. Van Swerinken, last of the two brothers who founded, lost and reclaimed the greatest rail empire in the history of the industrial age, died this week in the coach of one of his own trains. It is said that a minor collision in a switch yard contributed to his sudden death.

Sir Basil Zaharoff died Friday, called Europe's man of mystery. He amassed a fortune in armaments. His last home was a secluded Monte Carlo estate.

The American Federation of Labor
Look Out Lizzie at Litterbury Baptist church, Dec. 4; 10 and 20c.

concluded its annual convention in Tampa, Florida, Friday, electing William Green president for his 13th term, standing firmly for a 30 hour industrial week, and pledging its forces against communism and fascism. John Lewis' committee of industrial organization remained suspended.

Seventy-six Americans fled the Spanish embassy in Madrid, leaving twenty-one of their comrades who dined on beans Thanksgiving day. The Fascists have said that they prefer to starve out the capital city, rather than demolish it further in bombing raids.

JUST ONE YEAR AGO—These headlines made the news, Lincoln Ellsworth far out in flight over unknown Antarctic, "All Well" last message. Out of touch with base.

Army Fails to Add Plane in Sixteen Months.

Sanctions Make Italy An Army. Japan shoves along on her "Chinese Grab." Believed intent on taking over North China provinces with population of 95,000,000.

Italy sends staff chief to speed war in Ethiopia. Badoglio in full charge. Liquor runners remain with us. Roosevelt plans new budget cut. Italy may leave league if it extends new sanctions.

And in Omaha, Nebraska, little Oliver Sapousek, 11 years old, handed out the best news advice of the week. Following the death of his dog, he wrote this to an Omaha editor: "My little dog Laddie'd ed after hit and run driver hit him. I wrote this letter so that some man might read it and know he had broken some boy's heart and be more careful. That might have been a child he had hit."

Dairy Association Meeting in Jersey

University Expert is on Program at Gathering of Milk Producers

Jerseyville—Prof. C. S. Rhodes of the Dairy Extension Department of the University of Illinois spent all day Wednesday in Jersey county conducting a meeting of the Jersey County Herd Improvement association.

The activities of the day began with a tour of inspection of the herds at the farms of Theodore Ansell and Leslie A. Landon, south of Jerseyville. The visit to other herds was cancelled because of the inclement weather conditions.

The Ansell and Landon herds have both led the county association in production during the past year. Ansell specializes mostly in Holstein cattle and Landon features Jersey cattle, members of his drove being consistent winners at many county fairs in central Illinois during the past season.

About forty members of the association and interested dairymen attended the meeting here Wednesday. In the afternoon Rhodes spoke on the theme of "Feeding and Management of Dairy Cattle."

Local Sorority to Hold Inspection at Local Lodge Rooms

National Treasurer to Make Official Visit Here This Morning

Miss Audrey Wilson, of Peoria, national treasurer of Delta Theta Tau sorority will hold the regular biennial inspection of the local chapter today in the Alpha Iota Sorority club room, on West State street.

The first meeting is scheduled for 10:45 o'clock and all members are to be present. Luncheon will be served at noon at the Peacock Inn in honor of the visiting guest.

The sorority is the largest of the Greek letter organizations, having 123 active chapters located in almost every part of the United States, from California and Washington in the west, to Ohio and Michigan in the east.

Miss Wilson, who is a member of the Epsilon Upsilon chapter of Peoria has served her chapter as president, vice-president and secretary. In 1935, she was elected Illinois Alpha province officer. At the 1936 convention, she was elected to the office of national treasurer.

Delta Theta Tau sorority was organized as a secret high school sorority in Muncie, Indiana in 1902. Since that time it has grown until it embraces a membership of several thousand women. Its purpose is for the welfare of its members and the advancement of philanthropy.

Six divisions comprise this organization, national council, board of trustees, provinces, local chapters, alumnae associations and members-at-large. The organization meets each year in national convention and each province holds a mid-winter meeting.

Each chapter helps its community in support of its local charity work, and all chapters unite in helping to support a community school for mountaineers at Brinkley, Kentucky, which is Delta Theta Tau's national philanthropic project.

The greatest philanthropic endeavor of the members, however, lies in the school communities, and their projects are varied.

George Gordon of the Merritt community was calling on the local business men Saturday.

News from any angle-this QUALITY CAR IN THE LOW-PRICE FIELD

THE New Ford V-8 for 1937 is one car, built in only one chassis size—but the quality V-8 engine which powers it is now offered in two sizes. 35 horsepower for maximum performance with good economy—60 horsepower for good performance with maximum economy.

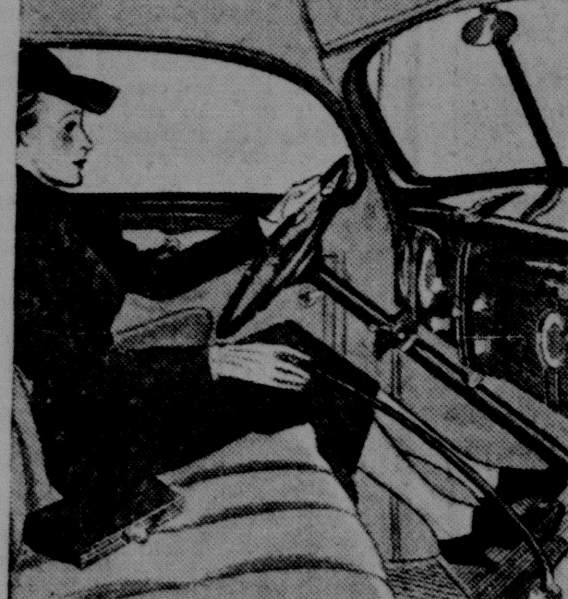

The smaller 60-horsepower V-8 engine, optional in several body types, makes possible the lowest price for a Ford car in years.

The car is entirely new in appearance—wide and roomy, with a low center of gravity. Headlamps are streamlined into the fender aprons. The modern lid-type hood is hinged at the back. The new all-steel top sweeps back from the windshield in an unbroken curve. Interiors are tailored to the minute. The slanting V-type windshield opens in all closed cars.

It is new in safety, quiet and comfort. The body is all steel—top, sides, floor and frame, welded into a single steel unit of great protective strength. Safety Glass all around at no extra charge. New methods of mounting body and engine bring quieter operation.

You are invited to visit your Ford dealer and see how the quality car in the low-price field has broadened its range and extended its usefulness.

EASY-ACTION SAFETY BRAKES: You want two things in a modern braking system. Dependability, and soft pedal action. The new Ford brakes give you both. They are positive and direct, with "the safety of steel from pedal to wheel." Cable and conduit control. Self-energizing. About one-third less pedal pressure is required to stop the car.

CCC to Submit Plan To Feed Game Birds At Tuesday Meeting

Sportsman's Club to Hear of Program Sponsored by Nation, State

A plan whereby the Jacksonville camp of the Civilian Conservation Corps will cooperate with the Morgan County Sportsman's club, the Four-H clubs, the Boy Scouts, and other organizations interested in the conservation of the wild life of the county will be explained in detail at a meeting of the Jacksonville chapter of the county organization to be held Tuesday night, Dec. 1, at the court house. Members of other chapters in the county are invited to attend the meeting.

Clyde Taylor, acting camp forester of the local CCC camp, will explain the program as set up by the national government in cooperation with the state government. Mr. Taylor is working under orders issued by Capt. B. C. Taylor, camp superintendent, who has received information from the national government.

Although some points in the program are as yet uncertain, the camp forester said that the local superintendent has received authority from the national government to devote a reasonable amount of time to game conservation this winter. The national government is not providing money for purchase of equipment, he said, but he believed that the cost of equipment necessary for the work would not be large.

The local camp officers have not worked out a program as yet, but are seeking the cooperation of the local organizations in order to obtain either donations of food for wild birds, including quail and pheasants, or the money with which to buy this material. The local chapter of the Sportsman's club will have an opportunity to express itself on the amount of cooperation it will give to the movement at this meeting.

The camp superintendent has indicated his willingness to allow men working time for building bird shelters, which usually are constructed out of corn shocks, branches of trees, and other material found in the field.

He also has indicated that he will be willing to allow workers time for the construction of feeding places, and men to check these feeding stations during the winter months.

Shelters and feeding stations should be constructed on and free from live stock, it was pointed out in the bulletin issued to the camp superintendents by the government, but the property does not have to be a state or federal game preserve. It was pointed out that the season for checking quail and pheasants will be closed while the feeding stations are in operation.

The camp forester said that the enrollees at the local camp for the past week have been marking on a map the location of coveys of quail, in order to have some working knowledge of logical places to construct feeding stations. The enrollees of the local camp are working on thirty-two farms in this vicinity at present, and have observed several coveys of quail.

Ernest May, president of the local chapter of the Sportsman's club, said that the club also would organize its own shooting teams at the meeting to be held Tuesday night. He urged all members who are interested in joining one of these teams to be present at the meeting.

Valley Champions Pick Jack Alred As Most Valuable Man

Woodhouse — Jumping Jack Alred, the tiniest atom of a squad of huskies, this year's football captain and one of the outstanding ball carriers in Central Illinois and perhaps the state, has been selected by his team-mates on the Roodhouse high school team to have the Jacksonville Journal and Courier gold football, given by the newspapers to the most valuable player on each Illinois Valley conference team.

Alred, whose sensational ball carrying turned more than one fairly evenly matched game into a rout for the Railroaders, competed for his last time this year under Roodhouse colors. Quicker than a flash to sense openings in the defensive formations, Alred was equally valuable on defense, where he was a sure tackler, and a clever man in returning punts. He served as quarterback most of the season.

Despite his 145 pounds, and his lack of height, the Roodhouse "Jumping Jack" became known all over this part of Illinois for his football playing ability. He is only five feet and a half tall, and easily could become lost among some of the larger players on his team.

Football, which he has played almost ever since he was big enough to wrap his arms around one, isn't his only recreation. He likes hunting and fishing, and goes in for baseball and track in season. He earned two football letters during his high school career, but he was on the squad three years.

No one knows just how much ground this little fellow has covered during his high school days, but there isn't a gridiron in the conference that hasn't responded to his flying feet, his baffling twists, his change of pace and his alertness. Against White Hall, in the closing days of this year's race, he ripped off one gain of 41 yards and another of 32 yards to score a touchdown that sent the Railroaders off on another victory march.

His chief ground gaining rival was Loren Phenix, a hard driving fullback, who provided the power to pull the defense in tight to check him, and make Alred's darting like cutbacks and wide swings around the end work. The two boys worked together in a fine spirit of co-operation all year long, as did the rest of the football team. There was no desire to score points—but merely a desire on the part of the whole team to push over a touchdown.

Jack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Alred of Roodhouse. He has an older brother, Richard, who is attending Illinois School for the Blind in Jacksonville, and two sisters.

In addition to being a stellar ball carrier, Alred was an uncanny passer, and a capable kicker. Roodhouse didn't use passes very much during the season, but the little fellow demonstrated in the final game against Jacksonville that he could hit a moving target while moving at top speed himself.

Alred is one of seven seniors of this year's football squad. The others are Keith "Sam" Ballard, Clarence Sittin, John Severs, Hal Worcester, Clarence Jackson and Bill Locker.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Ferguson of Orleans were included in the number of business visitors in the city Saturday.

Fans Night Will Open I.C. Cage Card

Wednesday Set For First Showing of Van Meter's Team This Year

Illinois College basketball players, without Lou Laster in the line-up, will open their 1936-37 basketball season on the Illinois School for the Deaf court next Wednesday night with a Fan's Night, during which the Blueboy varsity cagers will tangle with a strong independent team. Admission to this game will be free.

Athletic Director LaRue Van Meter, coach of the team, has announced. Laster, who was captain of last year's team until he was forced to drop out of college because of an illness, will join the squad for the second semester, according to plans at present.

In the meantime, Van Meter expects his squad to carry along well. He has Herb Scheffler, who played on Springfield's state championship team of 1934, Ira Scott, a 6 foot 4 inch boy from Payson who is now a sophomore, George Wellborn, former McKendree college star and an excellent hoop artist, Capt. Nick Watts, cool headed guard, and the Fletcher brothers, Cecil and Vergil, who have featured the play of the Blueboy teams of the past few years. Henry Clark, who played some varsity basketball last year, and Freddie May, former Jacksonville high hot-shot, also may take places in the Blueboy line-up.

Although the opening opponent has not been definitely selected, negotiations are said to have been going along satisfactorily with the Springfield Alumni All-Stars, a team composed of former college players, including Leonard Hoffman and Charles Dirksen, who last to the Blueboys at Williamsville two years ago.

Van Meter has booked an ambitious schedule for his cagers this winter, including a six game invasion of the south, and a three game Christmas holiday schedule. Six different Little 19 teams appear on the schedule, and home games have been arranged with Millikin, Wesleyan, Southern Teachers, and Carthage. McKendree and Charleston Teachers are other teams on the Blueboy conference schedule.

The schedule is as follows:
Dec. 2—Fan's Night, I. S. D. gym.
Dec. 8—Westminster college here.
Dec. 15—At Cape Girardeau Teachers.
Dec. 16—At Southern Teachers, Carbondale.

Dec. 18—Louisiana Poly, at Ruston, La.

Dec. 21—At Nacogdoches, La. Teachers.
Dec. 22—At Natchitoches, Tex. Teachers.

Jan. 1—Louisiana Poly, at Williamsville, Ill.

—:FAN BREEZES:—

The proposal of the local C. C. C. camp to take a hand in the conservation of the remaining wild life appears to provide an organization which has the men and the experience available to do this country a lot of good.

We have heard a number of tales recently about the work various individuals have been doing to preserve coverts of quail particularly.

H. B. Corrie who handles the agriculture department at Winchester high tells us that a number of his students, who live in the country, have been spotting quail in the off season, and have been providing feed for them. There were as many as six students involved, feeding up to a dozen coverts of quail they could pick up.

A bread truck driver told us that he ran across some quail over in Pike county that were suffering from the lack of food during last winter's cold spell. Daily it was his custom to stop, break open a loaf of bread, and leave plenty of it where the quail could reach it.

Still another man, prominent in the conservation work in this county, stopped us the other day and asked for plans for constructing feeder houses for birds. He planned to have a couple built and placed where he knew there were some birds.

Undoubtedly there are plenty of people who are willing to do something to bring back better hunting and fishing conditions in this county.

The problem is to find them, and then to enlist their help in a big cooperative movement.

CCC workers in other sections of the country have done many things to aid in the recovery of wildlife. Up in the northern part of the state, near the old home town, there is the White Pine state forest in this state. CCC workers have been in this park for two years and have changed the place so much from the one we remembered from the old camping days, that we hardly recognized it.

The change appeared to be for the better. The stream which runs through the forest has been rip-rapped in places, providing natural cover for bass, for which the stream seems ideally suited.

Here, where we have no state parks, however, the CCC workers are involved in other work on farms which leads them to discover wild life. The fact that a map, showing the exact locations where coverts of quail have been seen, has been rigged up at the local camp provides a fine starting place for conservation work.

Birds are going to need feed this winter if the weather gets as cold as some of the forecasters would lead us to believe. The CCC plans to construct the feeding shelters and other shelters for birds to use during storms.

All you boys who like to toss a gun over your shoulder, do a bit of tramping, and come back with something in the bag, should be interested in this program. Farmers who have suitable cover available on their farms, and who are willing to join in the movement, should get in touch either with the sportsman's club of the community, or in touch with officers at the CCC camp.

At least one coach from this neighborhood is getting far away from his work over the Thanksgiving holidays. He is Coach Orville Krughoff, of Carrolton, who left Wednesday for northeastern Wisconsin on a deer and wolf hunt.

Krughoff planned to live in a cabin while up in the Wisconsin woods and get in some shooting on big game.

Before leaving, he handed his Carrolton team a swell compliment for the way it conducted itself against White Hall. He was particularly impressed by the blocking of the rest of the team on Banghart's 80 yard run for a touchdown. Mike Graves and Carmody pulled off some spectacular blocks just at the right moment, making Banghart's run possible.

Duck hunters around here are wondering what is going to happen to the hunting laws laid down by the federal department of conservation. They are a bit provoked over the way things have been going, and are particularly grieved about the situation up around Crane Lake.

One well known local fisherman and huntsman declares that he doesn't believe the federal laws which provide a prison sentence for violation of the migratory water fowl code, can be enforced. He says it is his understanding that this penalty was set down arbitrarily by the game commission and that congress has not had anything to do with setting the penalty.

Therefore, he expects something drastic to happen when somebody with enough money to fight a case gets picked up.

Regardless of the explanations that have been handed out about the Crane lake affair, the whole thing sort of leaves a bad taste in the mouths of most sportsmen. Officials high in the conservation department of the state are members of a club located so close to the state game preserve at Crane Lake that they can shoot ducks when they are coming in for food.

The particular club to which these officials belong, is near the south end of the lake, and the persons who have aided the whole thing claim that the state has been doing most of its feeding on the south end.

75,000 See Chicago Prep Football Game

Largest High School Crowd In History Sees Tie Game

Chicago, Nov. 28.—(P)—More than 75,000 spectators, one of the greatest crowds ever to see a prep grid game in this country, saw Fenwick and Austin battle to a 19 to 19 tie at Soldier Field today and share the All-Chicago High School championship.

Receipts expected to total more than $100,000 will be used to buy shoes and clothing for Chicago's 65,000 underprivileged children.

Touchdowns by Austin, public school champions, opened and closed the scoring in the thrill-packed tussle. Dennis scoring the first try, Fenwick scored the fourth period after Fenwick, Catholic League titleholders, had taken the lead in the third quarter.

Soon after the start of the game Bill De Correvont passed to Bud Cervin for an Austin touchdown. Then Fenwick tied it up on Gene Gustafson's 45-yard touchdown sprint.

In the closing minutes of the opening period Fenwick went out ahead on a pass to Frank Doody. Austin tying the game up in the second period on a pass to Cervin, again thrown by De Correvont. Kruger's 35-yard aerial to Ryan put Fenwick on top again in the third and in the final period De Correvont tossed a pass of 43 yards which Dennis carried to the one-yard line, from where he scored on a plunge. An attempted pass for the point which would have won the game was incomplete.

CASEY DIES

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 28.—(P)—O. Robinson Casey, 78, reputedly the hero of the ballad "Casey at the Bat," died today.

Casey, noted as a hitter, was playing with the Detroit club of the old National League in 1885 and came to bat with the bases loaded in a crucial game. He struck out, tradition has it, and gave Ernest L. Thayer, a newspaperman, the inspiration for the poem "Casey at the Bat."

Thayer, however, made the setting of Casey's downfall in a baseball "flatbush" called "Mudville."

Navy Touchdown Scored After Decision Had Placed Pigskin On Cadet's Three Yard Line

Philadelphia, Nov. 28.—(P)—It was the Navy by a touchdown—and a courtmartial.

As a record eastern football throng of 102,000 spectators shivered and resigned themselves to the bleak prospect of a scoreless tie, the shellshocked midshipmen rode out of the grey gloom of gigantic Municipal stadium today to seize a decisive break on illegal pass, interference and ride it and the Army mule to a 7 to 0 triumph, with only three minutes of the hectic battle left to go.

The break, like so many that have decided big games and caused heated arguments this year, capped a 73-yard march that brought victory to the midshipmen and left Henry Sullivan, youthful cadet from Mt. Sterling, Ky., the "cost" of the game.

For it was Sullivan, by quirk of fate, who was adjudged guilty of illegal interference on a 17 yard pass tossed by Bill Ingram—a break that gave the midshipmen the ball on the Army three, first down, from which point Speed Schmidt of St. Joseph, Mo., took the pigskin over after three terrific blasts at the heroic but battered Army line.

Ingram, scion of a famous navy family, added the extra point from placement.

The middies halted the cadets on their 28 when Big Jim Craig fumbled and Schmidt recovered for the Navy. Ingram braved a pass Jimmy Schwenck, cadet fullback, batted the ball down, but the field judge E. E. Miller of Penn State, ruled illegal interference on the play and navy gained six yards. Schmidt and Ingram passed and drove the cadets back with a steady drive. A pass to Irwin Pike put the ball on Army's 20.

Ingram then threw a low pass to his left to Bob Antrim. Sullivan quailed the play and batted the ball plucking it from the air on the army three. At first, the referee started to bring the ball back to army's 20 but field judge Miller rushed in, called the penalty, and navy found the door open to its second victory in three years and 14th in the glamorous series that began in 1890.

It wasn't easy for the line shattering Schmidt from there on but the broken cadets had to give. On the first plunge, Schmidt didn't gain an inch; on the second he picked up a striding two yards, and on the third he dove high over his left guard and it was over as the white-capped midshipmen went into a frenzy of exultation.

A bitterly cold wind swept the sprawling stadium, a sloping concrete horse-shoe affair with bleachers erected at the open end.

A host of government officials, as well as high officers of both service branches, filled the boxes, one of which was reserved for Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Stromberg, Cadet captain won the toss and chose to defend the south goal to get the benefit of the wind. Ryan was at quarterback for the Cadets, replacing Kasper, while Hyson started at right tackle for the Midshipmen.

Stromberg kicked off into the end zone to Schmidt, who stumbled momentarily but managed to squirm past a flock of Cadet tacklers to the 10 yard line. Schmidt dashed off tackle to a first down in two cracks, then Ingram got away around his own left end from fake kick formation to Navy's 40 for another first down. The Navy star dashed 17 yards before he was tackled.

Hitting hard off the tackles and through the middle, Ingram and Schmidt quickly carried the Navy thrust into Cadet territory. The soldiers braced on their own 45, as Ingram completed a short diagonal pass to Case and Schmidt punted out of bounds in the "coffin corner" on the 5 yard stripe.

Army took one crack at the Navy line before Craig, the left halfback, punted to Ingram, who returned six yards to Army's 39.

Hassel replaced Hyson at right tackle for the Navy. Unable to get its running attack going again, as the Cadets held two plays to a scant three yards, Schmidt aimed for the corner again but the wind took his punt and twisted it into the end zone.

Army launched an immediate counter-attack from its own 20. Ryan dashed 15 yards off left tackle then Sullivan raced to Navy's 42 before being forced out of bounds. This 25 yard gain was followed by Craig's dash down the sidelines to Navy's 14, for a 28 yard gain.

Navy stopped three straight line plays, with Craig carrying twice and Ryan once, yielding only a yard. On fourth down, Craig threw a long forward into the end zone that skidded off the finger tips of Preston, Cadet left end. The pass from center was high and Craig, juggling the ball, almost was tackled before side-stepping and getting the ball away.

Navy put the ball in play on its own 20 and Schmidt punted on second down to Craig, who twisted seven yards to Army's 44. Craig was again harassed as he attempted a first down pass but managed to complete a wide toss to Schwenck, Cadet fullback, for a five yard gain.

The Midshipmen broke up Army's reverses at midfield. Ferrara nearly blocked Craig's punt but the Army back got the ball away on a low trajectory and Ingram let it roll dead on Navy's nine. Schmidt kicked on second down to Craig, who recovered the ball after it took a bad hop and raced 12 yards to Navy's 43.

A wide pass, Craig to Schwenck, netted 4 yards just before the period ended.

Score: Army 0, Navy 0.
Second Period
Charles (Monk) Meyer, the Army's slim backfield star, replaced Craig at the outset of the second period. Meyer took one crack at the Navy line, picking up a yard, then punted out on Navy's 20.

Schmidt punted after two Navy line thrusts gained 5 yards and Meyer brought the crowd to its feet with a sizzling 25 yard return to Navy's 40. Navy substituted Jarvis to Hessel at right tackle.

The first penalty of the game, five yards for being offside, was assessed against Army. Meyer dashed three yards off his left tackle, then passed to Sullivan for a 16-yard gain, putting the ball on Navy's 26. "Monk" then broke through the line, cut back and ran to the 13 for another first down. He was almost away when Case tackled him.

Four successive thrusts at the Navy tackles, with Meyer carrying three times and Ryan once, failed by inches to produce first down. The Midshipmen took possession just short of their own 3 yard line and Schmidt punted out on Navy's 35.

Meyer was stopped twice, losing two yards as Ferrara led Navy's brisk defense, but the Army ace then was shaken loose around his own left end, cutting back for a pretty run to Navy's 13 for a gain of 24 yards.

Ryan fought his way to the 10 but the Middies broke through to spill Meyer for a two yard loss. Ryan lost five yards on an attempt to circle Navy's right end, being forced out. Meyer, faking a pass, ran through a broken field to Navy's 7 but it was the sailors' ball on downs again as another army drive fell short.

Schmidt, from just inside the end zone, got away a sensational punt that bounded past Meyer who was tackled in his tracks by Soucek on Army's 23. The punt thus covered 70 yards from the scrimmage line and pilled the Navy but of a hole.

After two ineffectual belts at the Navy line, Meyer caught the Navy by surprise with a short pass off the right wing to Ryan, who picked up a flock of blockers and raced 38 yards down the sidelines before being forced out.

Ferrara was hurt and replaced in Navy's line by Lynch. O'Connor replaced Schwenck at fullback for Army. Mather took Isbell's place at right tackle for the cadets.

Meyer, after gaining two yards on a tackle thrust, passed down the middle but Ingram batted the ball down. An offside penalty against Army nullified a six yard gain through the line by Ryan from a fake reverse. Ryan picked up four yards but a fourth down attempt to pass, from fake kick formation, went wrong. Meyer tossed the ball over Ryan's head and it was Navy's ball on its own 35.

Navy's rollers got their first chance to cheer when Ingram completed a bullet pass to Antrim for a 24 yard gain after picking up one yard through the line. This put the ball on Army's 40. Ingram, on the last play of the period, got away for an 11 yard broken field dash to Army's 21.

Score: Army 0, Navy 0.
Third Period

Soucek kicked off for the Navy. Ryan returning to Army's 15 before being brought down hard by Lynch, Ryan fumbled on the second play and Antrim recovered (or Midshipmen on the 18 in the first "big break" of the game.

Army's forwards fought so fiercely that Navy lost seven yards in three plays with Ingram and Schmidt carrying the ball. Schmidt fumbled but recovered a high pass from center. On fourth down, Ingram gambled with a short pass to the wingback but it was batted down and Army took possession on its own 25.

Ryan broke loose for 15 yards on the first play. Meyer registered another first down on Navy's 49 after two line thrusts by Ryan netted 5 yards.

Antrim, Navy back, was knocked groggy as he stopped a line smash but remained in the game. Kasper replaced Ryan in the Army backfield.

Navy Touchdown Scored After Decision Had Placed Pigskin On Cadet's Three Yard Line

Army's 48. Ingram passed on first down but Sullivan knocked the ball down deep in Army's side of the field. The Midshipmen then got their running attack going sufficiently to squeeze out a first down on Army's 37 with three line plunges. Ingram completed a pretty pass to Case down the middle for first down on Army's 26. The Cadet defense yielded four more yards, then smeared Ingram's short pass. Antrim and Ingram worked a double lateral on fourth down but the play failed to gain and Army took possession on its 22.

After time out, Navy smothered Army's running plays and Meyer punted to Navy's 34. The Cadets got a "break" as Schwenck fell on a fumble by Schmidt on an attempted shovel pass. It was Army's ball on Navy's 25. Kasper and Meyer punted to a first down in two off tackle thrusts, putting the ball just inside the 15.

Meyer catapulted over the line for three yards but was spilled on the next play, a fake reverse, by Lynch for no gain. With the goal only a dozen yards away, another Army threat fizzled as a Meyer-to-Sullivan backfield pass was fumbled. Captain Morrell recovering for Navy. Schmidt kicked to mid-field and Meyer returned to Navy's 44 as the period ended.

Score: Army 0, Navy 0.

Fourth Period

Franks replaced Antrim in the Navy backfield at the start of the final quarter. On the first play, Meyer's long pass, intended for Sullivan, was intercepted by Wilsie, who ran eight yards to Navy's 25 before being thrown.

Ingram and Schmidt, taking turns, failed to dent the Army's aggressive line and the latter punted out on the Cadet 40.

Meyer, with a swarm of Navy players about to submerge him, completed a pass to Schmidt for first down on Navy's 45. The slender Cadet ace was shaken up on the play and battered on the next maneuver, an end run, to such extent that he was taken from the game, limping, and replaced by Craig.

Kasper took over the ball carrying and thrust his way to Navy's 33, chiefly on power plays off tackle. Janney replaced DuBois at guard for Navy and Antrim substituted for Franks in the backfield.

Craig fumbled as he was tackled hard on a sweep around his own left end and Schmidt recovered for Navy on the sailors' 27 yard line. The officials called pass interference against Army on a toss by Ingram to Antrim, giving the Navy first down on its 34.

Schmidt broke off tackle for ten yards but Navy cheers as well as the gain were wiped out by an offside penalty setting the sailors back to their 30. Case replaced Wilsie in the Navy backfield as the Midshipmen took time out.

Schmidt passed to Antrim for a 20 yard gain, putting the ball on the mid-field stripe. Fighting hard, with five minutes left to play, the Navy charged to a first down on Army's 40 with Schmidt and Ingram alternating in carrying the ball.

Kimbrell replaced Ohman at guard and Blanchard took Erikson's position at left tackle for Army. Ingram passed diagonally to Fike, putting the ball on Army's 20 right after faking a sweep around his own right end.

Ingram passed again, the ball bouncing off Antrim's hands into the arms of an Army player but interference again was called against the Cadets and it was Navy's ball on the 3 yard stripe. Schmidt picked up two yards in as many cracks and then plunged across his own right guard for the touchdown. Ingram place kicked the extra point, putting Navy in front 7 to 0.

Huntress Bags Prize in Tennessee Boar Chase

Jerseyville Record Now One Win and One Jolt; Miss At Free Throw Line

Jerseyville, Nov. 28—Chesterfield's talented basketball squad proved a little too much for Jerseyville here tonight, the visitors walking off with a 23 to 14 decision. The locals "blew" a large number of chances from the free throw line, which contributed to their downfall.

Jerseyville's record is one victory and one defeat, as the Jays got the best of Grafton Friday night. Chesterfield, a school that does not have a football team, started hoop drill early.

Beauty's Honor at Stake in Husband's Triple Duel

"If my husband is outduelled, I am sorry," beautiful Magda Sargas (left), Budapest heiress, commented in citing the Hungarian code which would prevent her from avenging her husband in the event he was killed in the lists of honor. But she was obviously relieved when circumstances delayed the three duels which Dr. Franz Sargas (right), penniless writer, was scheduled to fight to avenge alleged insults to her. His opponents are men who, he charges, accused him of marrying her for her money. Sargas is reported to have borrowed $10 with which to rent the dueling pistols for the engagements. Originally nine duels were scheduled, but apologies reduced the number to three.

Drought Prospects

Chicago, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Big export demand, together with prospects of unabated dry weather in the United States drought regions next week, hoisted wheat prices today to record-breaking levels.

Enthusiastic speculative buying of wheat futures here was witnessed, and profit-taking at times on a large scale failed to operate as a decided curb on upturns of values. The rise carried the Chicago market up in some cases 12 cents, outstripping peaks unequaled previous in six years.

Steel jumps of the Liverpool wheat market furnished a notable stimulus. Continued aggressive purchases of wheat for Italy were also a bullish factor.

Wheat in Chicago closed firm, 1 cent to 1 1/2 above yesterday's finish. Dec. 1194-4, May 1171-4, July 1071-4, corn 1 to 1 cent up, Dec. 104-4, May 100-100, July new 96-1/2, oats 1-1/2 advanced, Dec. 45-1/2, and rye unchanged to 1/2 higher, Dec. 95. Provisions bulged 1/2 to 42 cents.

Estimates were that including 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat taken today for shipment abroad a total of 7,000,000 bushels have been bought from Canada this week to go to foreign countries. Meanwhile further substantial purchases of southern hemisphere wheat for Italy were reported, and statements were current that Italy will import 40,000,000 bushels of wheat this season, having already contracted for 20,000,000 bushels.

Stocks Increase
In Buyers Market

New York, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Buyers scrambled for selected utilities, stocks, rubbers and specialties in today's stock market, and favorites were pushed up fractions to 2 or more points to new recovery peaks.

At the same time many recent leaders were neglected and, after a speedy uprush in the first hour of so, selling was encountered in virtually all departments. Extreme early advances were substantially reduced just before the close.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues held a net gain of 2 of a point at 71.8. Transfers totaled 1,434,280 shares against 802,260 last Saturday.

Power and light company stocks came to life partly, it was said, because they have long been behind the market with rails.

Steels were aided by expanding mill operations and the belief higher prices for the next quarter will drive in numerous customers before the end of the year.

Rail equipments were again star performers as the outlook for more carrier orders for locomotives and cars continued bright.

International Paper & Power preference shares retained an advance of 24 points at 94. American Locomotive Preferred was up 5 at 120.

Others prominent in the forward swing included North American at 33 1/2, Public Service of N. J. at 49, Columbia Gas 18 1/2, U. S. Steel 77, Bethlehem 73 1/2, Goodyear 29 1/2, Goodrich 32, U. S. Rubber 47 1/2, U. S. Realty 13 1/2, Canada Dry 19 1/2, Montgomery Ward 68, Sears Roebuck 99 1/2, Owens-Illinois 160 (the company received a large glass order from a major motor maker), Pullman 68 1/2, Westinghouse 146 and Pullman 68 1/2.

On the losing side up to a point or so were American Telephone at 187 1/2, Paramount 21 1/2, I. Case 156, Loew's 64 1/2, Kennecott 59 1/2 and Texas Corp 49 1/2.

General Motors was unchanged at 70 1/2 and Chrysler yielded 1/2 at 127 1/2.

Jersey County Men Are
"Clean Apple" Members

A. J. and William Ringhausen of the Fieldon vicinity are two of the ten orchardists who were awarded membership in the '95 Percent Clean Apple Club of Illinois, this year. Another orchardist to receive the honor was Paul Ringhausen of Hamburg.

Announcement of the awards was made at the 63rd annual meeting of the Southern Illinois Horticultural society held in Hardin, Calhoun county, last Monday and Tuesday.

The basic such award is the making of 95 percent clean apples of one variety on 100 trees in a single block.

Turkeys Stolen From Farm in Cass County

A large number of turkeys were stolen Wednesday night from the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Avery, who reside 6 miles south of Beardstown on the Arcadia road. It was reported that between 35 and 50 fowls which were being fattened for the Christmas trade, were taken. Authorities of several counties were notified, but there are no clues.

Poultry Stealing A
Gigantic Problem

"Organization work among farmers of Illinois for mutual protection against thieves and crooks is going forward at top speed," according to Ross Saunders, inspector in charge of rural crime prevention activities in Illinois.

Mr. Saunders will be remembered here as the man who addressed the state and national Anti Thief association conventions last fall on rural crime prevention. He has written several articles on the subject recently, and in one of them said:

"Wherever organized crime among farmers has been perfected, it is a most significant fact that crime has already been reduced from 45 to 90 percent."

"Cattle rustling and horse stealing which assumed the proportions of a national disgrace only about one year ago, has already been practically eliminated from the general crime picture. The wholesale stealing of hogs has been greatly reduced, but it is still a serious problem."

Various confidence games that formerly sapped hundreds of thousands of dollars from the pockets of the farmers have been exposed and eradicated. Only by eternal vigilance and constant exposure and timely warnings over the radio and through the press, however can we hope to keep these tremendous swindling losses down to minimum.

Strange as it may seem, the one big crime problem that now confronts the farmers and overshadows all others in point of huge annual losses, is the constant, colossal stealing of poultry.

The public has always been inclined to look upon the chicken thief as a minor offender. Too often, he is given a very light sentence, if any, although in the aggregate, he may have stolen poultry over a period of months or years amounting to more than the loot of several average bank stick-ups.

The annual losses from poultry stealing in Illinois now run over $1,500,000.

The time has come to quit temporizing with poultry thieves.

And it is up to the farmers themselves, through their vigilante organizations, to take just such steps as are necessary to put the fear of God into the hordes of poultry thieves who are operating upon a gigantic scale in every part of the state.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hart Leave Today For Big Farm Meet in Pasadena, Calif.—Stock Thought Stolen Found Under Straw Stack; Coolidge to Make Report; Apple Club

E. E. Hart, president of the Morgan County Farm Bureau, accompanied by Mrs. Hart, will leave today for Pasadena, Calif., where they will attend the annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation, which convenes Dec. 7. Enroute to Pasadena they will stop at Tucson, Ariz., to visit their son, Raymond Hart.

Mr. and Mrs. Hart are making the trip independent of the I.A.A. tour, which will take more than 1,000 Illinois residents to California for the meeting. It is probable that two other Morgan county citizens will be at the convention, going with the tour which leaves from Chicago.

Landscape Will Be Talked at Carrollton

A landscape specialist, Max G. Fuller, of the extension staff of the state university, will conduct the first of a series of meetings in Greene county Wednesday, Dec. 2, at Carrollton. The meeting will be held at 2 p. m. in the Farm Bureau office, and is open to all farm and home bureau members.

Stock Thought Stolen
Are Found Under Straw

Two head of cattle, a valuable bull and heifer, reported two weeks ago as stolen from the Tharp Brothers farm near Rushville, were found buried in a straw rick. The discovery of the missing animals was made after hogs had attacked the animals and were carrying portions of the carcasses around over the barn lot. Apparently the stock died when caught in a straw cave-in.

Method of Roasting

1. Place roasts fat side up on a rack in an open roasting pan.

2. Season with salt and pepper.

3. Place in a slow oven (300-350 degrees F.) and let roast until done. Lamb requires thirty to thirty-five minutes a pound for unboned cuts, and slightly longer for boned and rolled cuts.

"Skiddy Season is Here: Here's How to Play Safe"

Wow! Did you think that fellow turn around on the ice?

Lucky for him no one was coming. What a smashup that would have been.

Which reminds us that the "skiddy" season is coming and that more than 12 per cent of all auto accidents are caused by skidding, warns the Safety Department of the Illinois Agricultural Association.

One-fourth of all accidents on wet pavement come from slipping, and one-half of all accidents on highways covered with snow and ice are caused by skidding, the Department says.

To guard against skidding, C. M. Seagraves, director of safety for the association, suggests that motorists observe these rules:

1. Slow down when you hit ice, snow, or wet pavement.

2. Apply brakes gradually on slippery roads. It is easier to avoid a skid than to bring a car out of one.

3. To reduce the speed of a car on a slippery road, apply brakes and release several times until the car is going slow enough to be stopped completely.

4. Never disengage the clutch until the car is practically halted. Don't coast on a wet or slippery pavement.

5. Keep the hand throttle slightly advanced.

6. To start a car, throw the clutch in second gear or even in high to avoid skidding on a wet surface.

7. To get out of a skid, release the brake, turn your front wheels in the direction of the skid and step on the gas slightly.

Engineers Tune Up
Throttled Farm

Commenting on the importance of engineering to profit on the farm, George R. Boyd of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, addressing the American society of Agricultural Engineers in session at Chicago, brought out many examples of changes in equipment and plans that not only have made farms immediately more profitable, but that have made soil improvement more feasible. It would appear, said Mr. Boyd, who is assistant chief of the Bureau of Agricultural Engineering, that the importance of the engineering elements in the farm business have been underestimated. He was discussing preliminary conclusions of a six-year study of the engineering needs of 107 farms of the better grade and of wide variety in Minnesota, Michigan, Ohio, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia.

He said it had already become evident "even to an engineer" that the agricultural phases of the program on most of these good farms were far from the best and the engineers had called in farm management authorities in each state to help work out a complete program of farm business for these 107 farmers to take in all elements—crops, livestock, buildings, equipment, soils and the shape and condition of the fields.

The farmers cooperating in the studies were necessarily above average, he said, because they had to be men who were keeping records and who were financially able to make the suggested improvements.

"There was not a single farm in the 107," said Mr. Boyd, "that did not require a number of different engineering adjustments to make it more efficient. These farms were throttled down by factors that frequently could be 'tuned' out with little difficulty."

Most of these changes, he said, were not expensive, and many of them were brought about largely with farm labor. Some of the maladjustments he described were striking.

A farm in southeastern Virginia with 20 acres in cultivation, and with 6 cows and a few chickens the main source of income, had a tractor as the sole source of power.

Another farm in Virginia had a complete outfit of power machinery, including a three-row, general-purpose tractor and a ten-foot

HALF-ACRE in EDEN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MARCIA CANFIELD, daughter of wealthy PHILIP CANFIELD, known the neighborhood is buzzing over the sudden disappearance of FRANK, K. E. DICKSON, whose engagement to Marcia has been announced. Since his disappearance, a shortage in her father's funds has been discovered. With the friend, WILLIAM WALLACE, and others, Marcia is in a restaurant when there is a hold-up. Marcia loses a ring that was her mother's.

Frank is in Chicago. Marcia goes there to try to persuade him to return and face his financial obligations. Before she reaches him, Frank disappears again.

In Chicago, she encounters BRUCE MEDGALL, a stranger, who volunteers a slight service. Bruce is also a passenger on the plane Marcia takes to return home. A few weeks later she sees him again. Bruce, an artist, has decided to make his home in the suburbs.

Meanwhile, TONY STELLICCI, restaurant chef, suspects his wife, CARLO, of being involved in the holdup and finds some of the loot in Carlo's home. He accuses Marcia of being a ring.

Marcia stops at the Stellered home with the public welfare bureau and interviews a conversation between Tony and Carlo. Tony leaves Marcia alone with Carlo, who sees the ring on Marcia's hand. Carlo knows that the ring can convict him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVI

BOTH Marcia Canfield and Carlo Stellicci, waiting in the shabby kitchen while Tony carried hot water to the nurse attending his father upstairs, knew fear in those silent minutes.

Carlo's was the fear of guilt. Marcia's, the fear that came with sudden realization that an armed and cowering man faced her. There was a fascination in the thought; she looked at him curiously.

The man did not meet her gaze. Lighting a cigarette, he turned and stared out the window, trying to force his slow mind over possible escapes.

Yet all mental maneuvering was in vain; he knew that he was encouraging a futile hope. It flickered and died even as he tried to fan it into reality.

"What are you going to do?" he asked, with a ghostly show of sudden penitence as he sought another avenue.

MARCIA considered him, considered the sick man upstairs and his other son. She thought of the robbery of the Dog Wagon when this man, it was now clear, had somehow assisted the actual bandits, and of the loss of her mother's ring, by odd chance returned. She thought of the stripping of her own home on Christmas afternoon, and of the audacious holdup of the benefit bridge party at which a hundred women of the town had lost all the jewelry they wore.

"What can we do," she demanded, "but tell the police? You have been robbing the town right and

Every Family Has Stored Away In the Attic

Chedester Death Due to Accidental Poisoning, Verdict

Jacksonville Man Dies After Inhaling Carbon Monoxide
Gas in Garage

Accidental poisoning thru inhalation of carbon monoxide gas caused the death of James F. Chedester, who was found dead in a garage at his home, 410 Jordan street, yesterday morning, was the report of the jury impaneled by Coroner E. O. Sample. The inquest was conducted yesterday afternoon at the John Carroll funeral home.

Mr. Chedester, who was 48 years of age, was found on the floor of his garage at nine o'clock yesterday morning by W. H. McCarthy, his next door neighbor. Testimony given at the inquest led the jury to return a verdict that Mr. Chedester was overcome while engaged at work on his automobile. The coroner's jurors were S. J. Camm, foreman; Raymond Zell, Charles W. Watson, W. E. Barrows, E. S. Ring, Frank Reid.

Mr. McCarthy said he found the victim lying on the floor of the garage on the left side of the automobile which was parked in the garage. The right half of the hood of the 1936 Chevrolet was raised, and there was an oil can and a flashlight on the running board, he said.

Dr. W. H. Newcomb, who examined the remains a short time after they were discovered, said that the man had been dead for some time. Mr. McCarthy notified the police department of the tragedy and the police department sent a fire department squad with an inhalator to the scene, but the instrument was not used.

Noticed Doors Open
Mr. McCarthy said that he noticed the garage doors of the Chedester garage opened a short distance when he came out of the door at his home. He went over to the garage, and heard the motor running at an idling speed, he said. He went into the garage and noticed the gas almost as soon as he entered, and then saw the victim on the floor.

Mr. Chedester failed to respond to an attempt his neighbor made to awaken him, and Mr. McCarthy said he left the garage in order to get fresh air. He re-entered in a few moments and turned off the ignition switch, and then notified the police department.

None of Mr. Chedester's family, consisting of his wife and step-daughter, was at home. Mr. McCarthy said he understood Mr. Chedester had planned to go to St. Louis today to bring his family back to this city, where they have made their home for the past year. Mrs. Chedester was notified of the tragedy by long distance telephone by the McCarthy's and she and her daughter Gwendolyn Crocker arrived here at noon yesterday.

Arose Early
Mr. Chedester was known to be an early riser. It is presumed that he went to the garage to tune up the motor of the car and to make a few minor adjustments before leaving for St. Louis, and that he either almost closed the doors of the small garage, or the doors blew shut while he was working on the motor. The fact that his body was found on the left hand side of the car, and that the right half of the hood had been raised, led persons who inspected the garage to believe that the gas took effect without warning.

Mr. Chedester was district manager for the Witte Hardware company of St. Louis, and it is believed that he intended to call on some of his clients on his way to St. Louis. Officers found three sets of carving implements in the front seat of the car, and some of the company's literature in the rear seat.

Mr. Chedester had been living in St. Louis until about a year ago when he moved to this city. He was a native of Centralia, Mo., where his relatives reside. Mrs. Chedester had been visiting a sister in St. Louis over the holidays.

The decedent is survived by his parents Mr. and Mrs. William Chedester of Centralia, Mo.; two brothers, Ernest of Centralia, Mo., and Victor of Kansas City; and one sister, Mrs. Ed Rodemeyer of Centralia, Mo. He also is survived by his wife and step-daughter, Gwendolyn Crocker.

The body will be taken to St. Louis this morning and funeral services will be held in that city Tuesday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, at the Kriegerhauser funeral home.
